

Rania Bellou was born in 1982 in Thessaloniki. She studied at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, School of Fine Arts and she completed her MA Degree in Scenography at Central Saint Martins College, London. She is a visual artist working predominately in video art and installation. Her work questions the boundaries between reality and illusion, real and unreal using fragments from the passage of time. She has participated in group exhibitions in Greece, Switzerland, England and Albania, in various festivals, galleries and museums. In 2009 she participated in a solo exhibition at the Kalfayan Galleries, Thessaloniki.